Training for First Responder Diversion Programs

August 29, 2019
Ben Ekelund, Director for Consulting and Training
TASC’s Center for Health and Justice

Agenda

• Brief Overview: The Need for Training
• Tucson Police Department: Kevin Hall, Assistant Chief
• Plymouth County Outreach: John Rogers, Project Coordinator
• Questions and Answers
The Need for Training

Ben Ekelund, TASC’s Center for Health and Justice

- Substance use disorder (SUD) is present in 62% of men and 72% of women involved with the justice system
- Opioid epidemic has led to law enforcement and first responders (FR) taking on the role of linking individuals to treatment
- Most FR agencies do not have specific training or protocols related to substance use and addiction/SUD
The Need for Training

- Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) training
- Naloxone administration
- Medication-assisted treatment (MAT)
- Science of addiction and recovery
- Understanding stigma
- Substance use as a criminogenic risk factor
- Evidence-based treatment
- Recognizing addiction in families and children
- Motivational interviewing
- Screening
- Brief intervention
- Building public health partnerships

Considerations

- Cross-training between first responders and behavioral health staff
- Interventions should be assessment-based, individualized, communication between first responders and behavioral health
- Start training on hire and reinforce through continuing education

Pre-Arrest Deflection Training

Assistant Chief Kevin Hall
Tucson Police Department

Why is this important?

What are we trying to achieve?
- Save lives
- Improve individuals’ quality of life
- Improve community health
- Reduce crime

Arrest and incarceration has little to no impact on substance misuse,* so why keep doing it?

Requires a difficult shift in police culture and adaptive change

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES – CONCEPTUAL

*PEW CHARITABLE TRUST. (2018). MORE IMPRISONMENT DOES NOT REDUCE STATE DRUG PROBLEMS. PHILADELPHIA: PEW.
GOALS AND OBJECTIVES - TECHNICAL

- Define and understand substance use disorders and the science behind them
  - Adverse childhood experiences (ACEs)
  - Structural and chemical changes to the addicted brain
- Learn how to engage the unmotivated with effective communication
  - Motivational interviewing techniques
  - Trauma-informed care practices
- Gain an understanding of medication-assisted treatment (MAT) and how to refer to the designated treatment provider
  - Methadone/buprenorphine (suboxone)/naltrexone (vivitrol)
- Understand the workflow of pre-arrest deflection and how to implement using your training!

Tips for Success

1. Be patient
2. Change represents loss—allow time to digest, contemplate
3. Emphasize the power of individual officer discretion
4. I suggest that you not make deflection mandatory
5. Incentivize deflection (we use training, commendations, etc.)
6. De-emphasize arrest as a measure of productivity
7. Ask for ongoing process improvement suggestions
8. Executive leadership team must show united support for program
9. Members of executive leadership should be present for as many trainings as possible to lend importance and credibility to program
10. Isolate and influence informal leaders (sergeants, FTOs, tenured officers)
11. Highlight success stories, no matter how small
