Presenter

Pamela Acosta

- Ms. Acosta is a lifelong resident of New Mexico and has 25 years of combined experience in behavioral health, human and community services, and criminal justice.
- Areas of focus have been in psycho-social rehabilitation, outpatient and intensive case management, crisis services, Temporary Aid for Needy Families (TANF), criminal justice and transition services.
- She has worked for Bernalillo County for 9 1/2 years.
- She previously managed the Inmate Benefits and Social Services Department at the Bernalillo County Metropolitan Detention Center, where she played a pivotal role in the development and implementation of the Social Services Coordinator program and the Medicaid enrollment and suspension process within the jail.
- In 2019, she accepted a position with the Bernalillo County Department of Behavioral Health Services where she currently manages the Resource Reentry Center and provides contract oversight and support to its contractors.
- Ms. Acosta currently serves as an executive committee member on the Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (CJCC) Diversion and Reentry Subcommittee, facilitates the High Frequency Utilizer Work Group, and is a member of the Forensic Intervention Consortium (FIC).

Presenter

Chief Deputy Geoff Stobart

- Chief Deputy Geoff Stobart is the chief deputy of Research, Development, and Major Projects for the Franklin County Sheriff's Office, Columbus, Ohio.
- With a career spanning over 27 years, Chief Stobart has gained wide and deep experience within the sheriff's office.
- He manages the office's largest division and is responsible for the custody and care of more than 2,000 inmates in two jails while overseeing the research and construction of Franklin County's new state of the art, evidence-based corrections center slated to open in the fall of 2022.
- He has been assigned to every division of the office spending time in Patrol, Community Relations, Internal Affairs, and Investigations.
- Chief Stobart obtained a Graduate Certificate in Management Development from the School of Industrial and Labor Relations of Cornell University and is a graduate of Northwestern University's School of Police Staff and Command.
- He serves on the Franklin County Criminal Justice Planning Board.

Presenter

Melissa Pierson

- Melissa is the Chief Operating Officer for the Franklin County Office of Justice Policy and Programs (OJPP) where she has served for 22 years.
- She is responsible for budget oversight and administration of $8+ million in federal, state, and local grant funds, and supervises three departments including two direct service units and a grants administration division employing 21 staff and contractors.
- As the primary grant writer for OJPP, Melissa has secured close to six million dollars in competitive seed funding since 2015 supporting innovative reentry programs like the nationally recognized Pathways Program and Rapid Resource Center located in the releasing section of the Franklin County Correctional Facility.
- Melissa is proud to serve in leadership roles on the National Criminal Justice Advisory Council as a representative for the Midwest Region, as the Board Treasurer for the Ohio Justice Alliance for Community Corrections, and as co-chair of the Columbus and Franklin County Addiction Plan Public Safety Sub-Committee.
- Melissa attended Ohio University for her undergraduate degree in Sociology/Criminology and the University of Dayton where she obtained a master's degree of Science in Education.

Presenter

Ryan Newsome, B.A., BSW, MSW, LSW

- Ryan Newsome has been in the field of reentry since 2013.
- He has a B.A. in Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies, a B.S. in Social Work, a Master of Social Work (MSW), and is a Licensed Social Worker (LSW) with the State of Ohio.
- He currently serves as the Social Services Coordinator for the Franklin County Office of Justice Policy and Programs and manages the Male Pathways Program and Rapid Resource Center.

Presenter

Caitlin Looney, LISW-S

- Caitlin Looney is a licensed independent social work-supervisor (LISW-S) in the State of Ohio.
- She has worked in the justice field for over a decade and currently serves as the grants administrator for the Franklin County Office of Justice Policy and Programs in Franklin County.
- Current areas of focus for managed grants include jail-based medication-assisted treatment (MAT), Stop Addiction for Everyone (SAFE) Station, Peer Support, and jail-based cognitive behavioral treatment (CBT), and reentry supportive services.

Learning Objectives

Learning Objectives

- Describe at least three strategies for supporting recovery among individuals with substance use disorder (SUD) who are preparing for reentry into the community from incarceration.
- Identify tools and resources for facilitating reentry planning.
- Discuss the role and responsibilities of correctional staff and community partners in shaping a continuum of care for individuals with SUD.

Resource Reentry Center

Pamela Acosta
Special Projects Coordinator
Bernalillo County, New Mexico

Resource Reentry Center

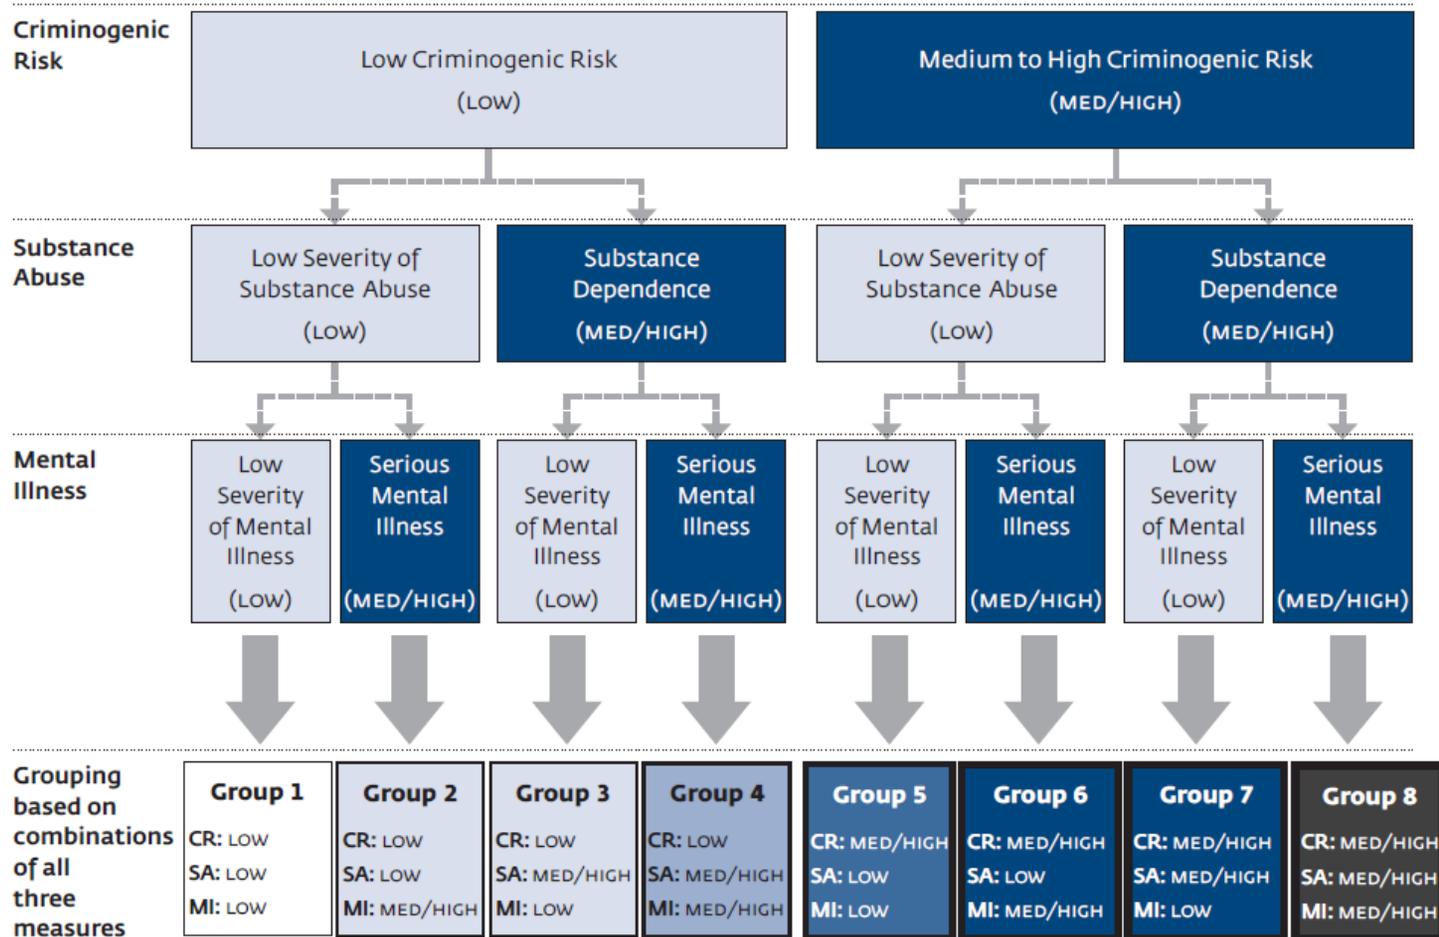

- The Resource Reentry Center (RRC) is the first stop for those releasing from the Metropolitan Detention Center (MDC) in Bernalillo County.
- RRC is housed in the Public Safety Building in downtown Albuquerque. It is open 24 hours, 7 days per week.
- This voluntary program is designed to provide a safe landing spot for citizens releasing from MDC and plays an important role in jail diversion and reentry efforts.
- Primary goals of the RRC include assessing and connecting clients to appropriate resources and services in the community in warm hand-offs.
- RRC is funded through the Behavioral Health Initiative via the one-eight percent gross receipts tax. The yearly operational budget is $1 million.
- RRC officially opened in June 2018.

Transition Planning Begins at Booking

- At booking, each incoming individual completes an Intake Receiving Screening. This is provided by MDC's medical contractor, Corizon.
- This screening uses validated instruments to assess criminogenic risk, prevalence of substance or alcohol use, behavioral health needs, and suicidality.
- Based on the weight of the responses, an automated score is produced and assigns the individual to a specific risk group.
- This grouping assists service professionals in the jail and at RRC in determining the appropriate level of care and developing focused links to services (e.g., needs assessments, transition plans, types of referrals).

Prerelease

- Prior to release, individuals who are considered to have moderate to high needs (risk group 6–8) meet with a transition planner to complete a reentry needs assessment and a transition plan.
- Transition plans contain client-centered goals and interventions to guide the individual to a successful reentry into the community.
- Transition planners quickly begin efforts to connect individuals with community services, resources, and long-term assistance.
- Weekly roundings take place between jail partners and RRC's transition and reentry teams to staff cases and ensure that everyone is on the same page.

METROPOLITAN DETENTION CENTER

- Services: Varied services and resources (e.g., case management, housing, vocational/educational assistance, shelter, food, transportation, medication assistance)

Post Release

- Upon release, MDC transport vans transport clients to RRC, where they can meet with onsite case managers who are available to discuss next steps.
- Clients who completed a transition plan while in custody meet with a case manager to work on the goals they set.
- Clients who are released swiftly without consulting with a transition planner or social services coordinator while in jail can meet with an RRC case manager to complete a reentry needs assessment/transition plan or ask questions.
- Follow-up phone calls are conducted within 5 days up to 6 months post release to inquire about the client's status and if additional services or referrals are needed.

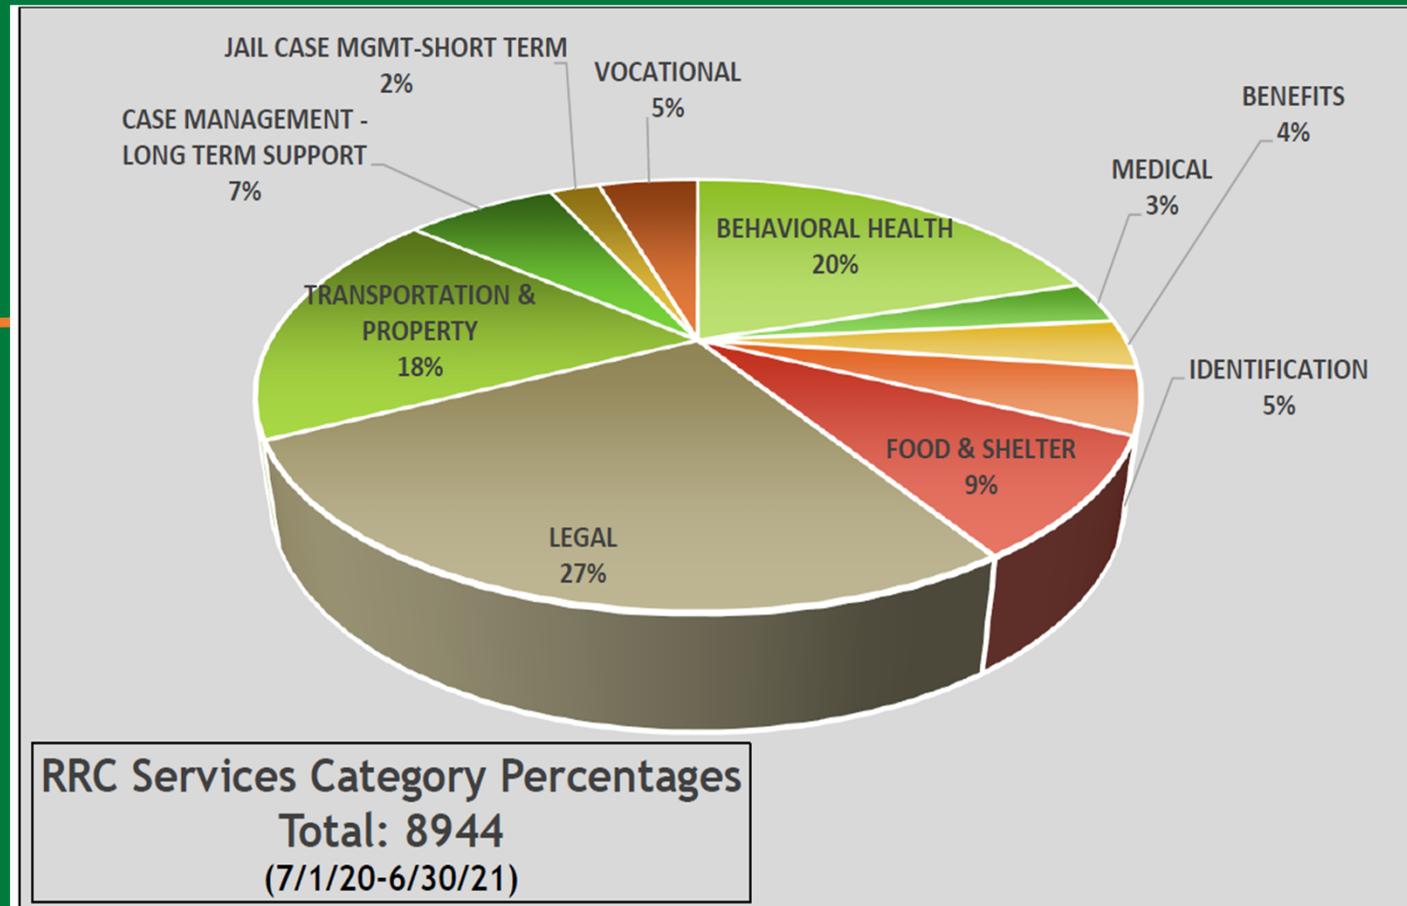

RRC Highlights

- Active greeter process and informal roll call upon transport van arrival
- Access to phones, charging station, snacks, coffee, computers, clothing, bus passes, motel vouchers, Narcan, etc.

Pre-release Introduction Letter Samples

Hello (Name),

It's (Name). I hope you remember meeting with me on (date). I would first like to thank you for taking the time to meet with me and sharing some areas where you would like assistance. Below you will find further information on the topics we discussed during my visit and a brief overview of the program I work in.

As I mentioned before, I'm a Community Health Worker with Franklin County Public Health and I will be able to continue to meet and work with you upon your release through our Care Coordination Program. We can work together to identify and establish goals that you would like to achieve, work to overcome barriers you may face in pursuit of those goals, and use the completion of those goals as motivation to continue towards self-sufficiency.

I also serve in the Rapid Resource Center which you will have access to upon your release. The RRC can help meet some of your immediate needs - access to Substance Use and/or Mental Health Treatment, applying for Medicaid and SNAP benefits, food, hygiene, ID/Birth Certificate vouchers, transportation assistance, phone and internet access, and phone chargers.

From Peer Supporter Wendy Adcock

Late one evening on 12/8/2021, a gentleman by the name of Michael was released from FCCCII. He came into the RRC wearing shorts and a sleeveless t-shirt. He wanted to use the phone, get something warm to drink and to collect his thoughts. He was very cold and sad. Because of his incarceration, he lost his apartment, employment and all of his belongings. He was unsure of where he would be able to go that night for shelter. He was devastated and lost.

He proceeded to call several friends & family members. No one was able to accommodate him. Myself and Valerie gently urged him to call the shelter hotline. He let out a deep sigh and stated that he needed to call his daughter who lived out of state. He said that he promised to call her upon his release as so she would not worry about him. As he conversed with his daughter, he told her that he no clothing and he didn't know where he was going to sleep that night. Valerie and I looked at each other. Peer Supporter Mitchell Patterson had left a suit and other articles of clothing for another client who decided that he did not need it.

Valerie and I jumped up; I gathered up the clothing and Valerie put together a hygiene bag. Both were offered to him. Michael began to cry and immediately put on the suit- it fit him perfectly! We then gave him information for several agencies that could assist him with housing and employment in the future. He thanked us for being so thoughtful.

Valerie and I again gently urged him to call the homeless hotline. He could not believe that everything he owned was in two bags and he no longer had a home. I called the shelter for him and had him speak with intake. They were able to get him in. The intake specialist assured him that he would be able to speak with someone the next day.

We provided an UBER to take him directly to the shelter. We gave him two bus passes to go see his PO as well to travel to other places that he needed to go to. As he left, he thanked us again for our kindness.
